Harris Personal Injury Lawyers, Inc. employed the services of Esteban Lopez and James Niebling for the redesign of our downtown San Diego office location in the historic El Cortez building. From the beginning, both James and Esteban were sensitive to maintaining the architectural “roots” of the building, while also providing an opportunity to make the space look and feel more modern. The initial design phase was exciting from the start – James and Esteban came to the table with fresh ideas that uniquely combined the historical attributes of The El Cortez with contemporary designs. It was clear from the beginning that James and Esteban would truly be able to bring our space to life.

What is perhaps the best attribute that Esteban and James offer is their ability to respect opinions that differed from their own. If a view was presented that varied from their original plans, they welcomed the feedback and made any necessary changes promptly. It was incredibly beneficial to have that ease of communication, and proved that the trust given them with the redesign of our space was well-placed.

Throughout all stages of the redesign, Esteban and James were professional, prompt, and eager to please. We are thrilled with the work performed by Esteban Interiors and would recommend them highly to all.
